

Home Draw Service

Gramic Research Laboratory would like to introduce our home draw service. Our main product, the home draw service, is an exciting, all-encompassing program that will allow the hospital, health system, physician, and managed care organization to effectively manage laboratory results of their low-mobility clients. This successful program leads to a decreased rate of patient inconvenience and reduced average length of stay at the medical facility. In addition, this program provides the elderly and frail individuals an opportunity to remain in the comfort of their own homes.

The method is very simple, once we receive the physicians order, we will contact the patient and schedule an appointment based on the patient's convenience. Our highly experienced phlebotomy technician will travel to the patients home and perform all of the requested procedures. Once the specimen arrives at our laboratory, most tests will be immediately processed and reported to the physician within 24 hours. Some insurance companies, such as Medicare, will cover this service and it will be free of charge to the patient.

Our mission is to provide expert clinical laboratory services that consistently meet or exceed our clients' expectations at the most competitive prices available.
